Art Unit: 1793

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action: (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Barber et al, for the reasons given in the last Office Action.

Claims 1 and 3-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Oroskar et al (newly cited). No distinction is seen between the process and apparatus disclosed by Oroskar et al, and that recited in applicant's claims. Oroskar et al disclose a process and apparatus for producing hydrogen by reacting an oxygenate and hydrogen peroxide in the presence of a transition metal catalyst, wherein the oxygenate may be an alcohol. (See col. 1, lines 46-61 and the paragraph bridging columns 5 and 6.) Accordingly one of ordinary skill in the art could at once envisage the process and apparatus recited in applicant's claims. In any event, it would be obvious to select an alcohol as the oxygenate from the list disclosed at col. 5, lines 48-53 of Oroskar et al, since one of ordinary skill in the art would expect that any of the oxygenates recited in such list would function in the process.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 8 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 8, "selected from at least one element from the group consisting of..." is improper Markush terminology, since the metal is selected from the group, and not the elements. In claim 16, "selected from...and" is improper Markush terminology.

Claims 1 and 3-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Barber et al. It would be obvious to employ a catalyst comprising at least one group 8, 9, 10 or 11 transition metal as the catalyst in the process of Barber et al. Applicant's argument, that the invention is not shown in provisional application SN 60/493871, is not convincing, since such application discloses on page 5 that a catalyst that encourages the formation of carbon dioxide is employed in the process. It would be within the skill of one of ordinary skill in the art to determine which catalysts would so function. Accordingly it would be obvious to employ a group 8, 9, 10 or 11 transition metal as such catalyst.
